ASIAN STUDIES SYMPOSIUM
February 28-March 4, 2011

Convocation Events

Ricci Sakakibara, Associate Professor of Modern Japanese Literature in the School of International Liberal Studies at Waseda University in Japan

Monday, February 28, 7:00 p.m.
Multi-Media Hall, Bunch Library
"Rethinking the 'Post-Defeat' Discursive Space: Censorship During the American Occupation of Japan after World War II."

James Auer, Director of the Center for U.S.-Japan Studies and Cooperation at the Vanderbilt Institute for Public Policy Studies

Tuesday, March 1, 7:00 p.m.
Multi-Media Hall, Bunch Library
“Should the U.S. Continue to have a Military Presence in Japan?”

Guanping Zheng, Director of the Confucius Institute at Middle Tennessee State University and Associate Professor of Electronic Communication

Wednesday, March 2, 10:00 a.m.
Massey Business Center, 104
“The Secret Language of Nushu 女书”

Peimin Ni, Professor of Philosophy and President of the Society for Asian and Comparative Philosophy

Wednesday, March 2, 7:00 p.m.
Multi-Media Hall, Bunch Library
“Calligraphy and the Cultivation of the Person”

Thursday, March 3, 7:00 p.m.
Multi-Media Hall, Bunch Library
“Gongfu 功夫(Kungfu) is for You”