Belmont University Asian Studies Symposium
October 14-16, 2015
Asian Permutations

Wednesday, October 14
10:00-10:50 a.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"Learning Physics through Ancient Chinese Science and Technology," Dr. Matt Marone, Professor of Physics, Mercer University

3:00-3:50 p.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"Asian (Dif)fusion: Eastern Religions in the American Context," Dr. Jim Deitrick, Associate Professor of Religious Studies, University of Central Arkansas

7:00-8:30 p.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
McWhorter 402, Limit 25 attendees
"Experiments in Ancient Chinese Science and Technology," Dr. Matt Marone

Thursday, October 15
12:30-1:30 p.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"The Dude That Can Be Told: Eastern Religions and American Pop Culture," Dr. Jim Deitrick

2:00-2:50 p.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"Social Dominance Orientation and Traditional Gender Role Beliefs: China and the U.S.,” Dr. Pete Giordano, Professor of Psychology, Belmont University

Friday, October 16
10:00-10:50 a.m. (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"The Crisis in Japanese Professional Baseball and the Nature of Change in Japan,” Dr. Paul Dunscomb

3:00-3:50 (AL Convocation Credit)
WAC, Conference C, 4th floor
"Asia Matters for the U.S. and Tennessee,” Dr. Dennis Chen, Assistant Professor of Management and International Business, Belmont University