

BELMONT UNIVERSITY

2019-2021

Fellows Program

FELLOWSHIP PURPOSE

The Belmont University Welcome Home Diversity Council and the Office of the Provost proposed the development of the Belmont University Fellows Program, a post-doctoral teaching and research program that provides a comprehensive, university-level teaching and research experience with a Belmont faculty member mentor, to members of under-represented groups that have recently completed their terminal degree.

BELMONT UNIVERSITY FELLOWS PROGRAM

Belmont University's Vision statement is, "To be a leader among teaching universities, bringing together the best of liberal arts and professional education in a Christian community of learning and service". This recognizes the centrality of teaching as part of a successful, 21st century, student-centered, academic institution.

The Belmont University Fellows Program provides a unique and valuable opportunity to increase diversity among future faculty. Fellows candidates will have received a terminal degree in their discipline and possess a desire to seek a position at a teaching-focused institution. To support this, Fellows will be recruited based on their academic and professional accomplishments but will be selected with a focus on under-represented groups in their discipline. This two-year program allows for the Belmont Fellow to be mentored by a Faculty Mentor at Belmont University in the development and delivery of rigorous courses while engaging in a research program involving Belmont University students. The intent is to help develop the pipeline for faculty to transition from graduate research at "R1" institutions into teaching-research positions at institutions like Belmont.

Recruitment for the 2019-2021 fellowship years will be in the Fall of 2018, with new fellows starting June 1, 2019

COMMON GUIDING PRINCIPLES ON THE PATH TO 2020

<http://www.belmontvision2020.com/>

Students will be at the center of all that we do.

Highest quality academic programs and excellence in teaching will be treasured.

Strong Christian character will be embedded in all that we do.

Diversity will be enhanced across the university community.

A strong people-first culture of openness and mutual respect will guide our relationships.

The reputation of Belmont University will be strengthened.

Technology will be deployed to enhance learning and improve operational efficiency.

University resources will be applied to achieve high quality and to maintain momentum.

Investments in people will be made in the form of salary, benefits and individual development opportunities.

We will cherish the privilege of service to others and the importance of our work.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Belmont University Fellows are appointed to a 12-month, full-time contract beginning in June that includes teaching (up to three courses per semester, but not less than two courses per semester) over two years (including summer teaching/research assignments), under the guidance and supervision of a Faculty Mentor.

The Fellow will also regularly participate in sessions, programs and activities provided by the Teaching Center for the Fellows and for the First-Year Faculty group. Fellows and Mentors will also participate in general Teaching Center activities available to all faculty.
